1012M2 OF MEDIUM DENSITY LAND - DUAL INCOME INVESTMENT

First home buyers, Investors and builders take note: this large 6-bedroom classic colonial home sits on over 1000m² of prime Medium Density land in the heart of one of QLD's fastest growing districts. Bring your toolbox and paintbrush as some renovation could really make this charming residence shine. The current owners have made a great start having re-stumped the house, so the foundations are solid. Also, a high-quality 8kw Solar system has been added to the property, dramatically reducing soaring energy costs. Upstairs you will find an open plan living space, four good sized bedrooms with the fifth bedroom being much smaller, perfect for a nursery or maybe that home office you have been dreaming of but never had the space for. The sixth bedroom is located separately downstairs boasting aircon and a separate living space, study nook, bathroom, kitchenette and private entry. Great for your guests, family or extra income!

At the back of the property stands an 80m² shed that has been fully converted into a livable dwelling featuring high ceilings, gas cooktop and ceiling fans throughout. Complete with one bedroom, bathroom, living room, split level study, kitchen and loads of storage space. Great for more guests, even more family or even more extra income!

The Medium Density Residential Zone on the Sunshine Coast is designed to support a variety of residential and community activities, ensuring sustainable urban development. This zone permits a range of residential activities, including dual occupancy, dwelling houses, dwelling units, multiple dwellings, relocatable home parks, residential care facilities, retirement facilities, rooming accommodations, and short-term accommodations. Each type of development within this zone must comply with specific assessment benchmarks and requirements.

For residential activities, dual occupancies and dwelling houses are accepted developments, subject to their respective codes. Dwelling units, multiple dwellings, relocatable home parks, residential care facilities, retirement facilities, rooming accommodations, and short-term accommodations require code assessment and must adhere to the Medium Density Residential Zone Code, the applicable local plan code, and other prescribed development codes.

Business activities such as home-based businesses and sales offices are generally accepted developments, with specific requirements for different types of activities. Shops, particularly corner stores, and community care centers require code assessment, while other uses might necessitate impact assessment.
