WHERE ARCHITECTURE MEETS NATURE - A SANCTUARY AMONG THE TREES

Privacy without isolation. Luxury without excess. Welcome to a home that captures the serenity of nature and combines it with the very best of the Buderim lifestyle.

Custom designed by Adrian Ramsay, many hours were spent at the design table to ensure the building footprint made the very best use of the block and surrounding nature. The brief was to create a home that felt connected to the landscape, captured the natural light and outlook, and gave every space a genuine sense of purpose.

The result is a home that sits effortlessly within its lush setting, rather than simply upon it. It feels private, peaceful and wonderfully secluded.

Life here naturally gravitates outdoors. Picture long afternoons by the pool. Dinner on the covered alfresco. Evenings around the fire pit as the light disappears through the trees. Expansive lawns give children room to play, while the surrounding gardens create the feeling of your own private sanctuary.

Inside, the home is equally considered. Generous living spaces, beautiful natural finishes and large windows draw the landscape inside.
