For those who may be looking to hold on to the property for the future, the property is probably well suited to a "tradie" or someone who is handy on the tools; who can decide when and how you might want to tackle the home as a project.

Whatever your aims, circumstances now dictate that the property is being offered well below previous market expectations; and with a site of this size and in this location expected to possibly be suitable for between 4 to 6 units (S.T.C.A), it's sure makes great financial sense to run the ruler carefully over this one!

Opportunities to inspect are somewhat limited, but make no mistake: Time is of the essence with this sale... Be sure to call me today so we can discuss your options, before the opportunity passes you by...
