bedrooms accompanied by a study with built in desks and a large centrally positioned rumpus room. A bathroom with separate toilet adjoins.

On the lower ground level is a multipurpose area consisting of 2 rooms and a bathroom currently used as a games room and large storage room. Ideally this area could easily be used for as accommodation for guests or a dependant family member as a wet bar enables provision for a kitchenette.

The address is a popular one as the street is a cul de sac with leads to a walkway through Alex Forest reserve to patrolled Alex surf beach, cafes, restaurants and shops. The area is well known as a tucked away, quiet residential pocket. This home truly is a remarkable property of considerable size. Feasibly it would be hard to justify building from scratch in what is a lovely street and progressive area where significant renovations and demolitions with new dwellings are occurring.
